

Privacy & Professional Information

The Butterfly Effect Psychotherapies, LCSW, PLLC

At The Butterfly Effect Psychotherapies, your privacy matters.

Whether you are exploring therapy, visiting our website, or already working with us, we believe you should understand how your information is handled and how we work to protect it.

This page provides general information about our privacy practices, technology, professional licensure, and online services.

Your Privacy

Mental health care is personal, and we take confidentiality seriously.

Information you provide as part of psychotherapy is handled in accordance with applicable privacy and professional requirements. We use safeguards designed to protect personal and health information and limit access to those who need it for appropriate clinical or operational purposes.

Current clients receive a formal Notice of Privacy Practices with more detailed information about how health information may be used or disclosed and the rights clients have regarding their records.

Website Privacy

You are welcome to browse this website without providing clinical information.

If you contact us through the website, please keep your message brief and avoid including highly sensitive health or mental health information.

Submitting a contact form, sending an email, or requesting an appointment does not by itself establish a therapist-client relationship.

Once you become a client, we may direct you to secure systems for forms, communication, scheduling, and other information related to your care.

Privacy & Professional Information

Technology & Security

We use technology to support the delivery and administration of psychotherapy, including secure electronic health records, telehealth, electronic forms, scheduling, billing, and client communication.

We select technology with privacy and security in mind and use reasonable safeguards to protect client information.

No electronic communication or technology can be guaranteed to be completely risk-free, so we encourage clients to use secure Practice-approved methods when sharing sensitive information.

Artificial Intelligence & Clinical Documentation

We may use carefully selected AI-assisted technology to support clinical documentation and administrative tasks.

AI does not replace your therapist.

Clinical assessment, diagnosis, treatment planning, safety decisions, and therapeutic care remain the responsibility of your clinician.

When AI-assisted technology involves processing or transcribing a therapy session, clients are informed about its use and appropriate consent is obtained.

Our AI Privacy Commitment

The Butterfly Effect Psychotherapies does not permit de-identified psychotherapy-session transcripts to be retained through SimplePractice Note Taker for AI product-improvement purposes.

We believe psychotherapy deserves a particularly thoughtful approach to privacy and emerging technology.

Telehealth

We offer telehealth psychotherapy when clinically appropriate and when the treating clinician is legally authorized to provide services where the client is physically located.

Because telehealth requirements vary by state, clients may be asked to confirm their location during appointments. Travel or relocation may occasionally affect whether a telehealth session can take place.

Privacy & Professional Information

I would make the button open your full California notice rather than putting all of the statutory language on this general public page.

Current Clients

Current clients should use the SimplePractice Client Portal when directed to do so for forms, appointments, telehealth, billing information, and other communications related to care.

[Client Portal]

Please do not use the website contact form, email, or portal messaging for emergencies.

Emergencies

The Butterfly Effect Psychotherapies is an outpatient psychotherapy practice and does not provide emergency-response services.

If you are experiencing an immediate emergency, call 911, call or text 988, or go to the nearest emergency department.
